Dear Sisters and Brothers,

Unfortunately, at certain times hospitality workers face a downturn in business, changing Employers, or new concepts that may end our ability to work in our current positions. I want to assure each of you that your union is fully committed to upholding the principles of fairness and protecting your rights during this challenging time.

Seniority remains a cornerstone of our Union contract, serving as a guardrail of fairness and protection from mistreatment. This means your years of dedication and service to your employer will be honored and respected. Layoff procedures will be conducted in strict accordance with our contract, ensuring that decisions are made based on clear, established seniority rules—not arbitrary or unfair criteria.

The protections provided by our union contract are invaluable, especially now. They guarantee that your voice is heard and your contributions are recognized. If you have questions or concerns about your rights or the layoff process, please reach out to your Shop Steward or Union Representative. We are here to support you, advocate for you, and stand together as one united voice.

Enclosed in this guide are additional resources to help you and your family navigate these challenging times. This includes recommendations for Food Banks, new work with other Employers, and much more. I hope this guide can provide some additional support for you and your co-workers.

In solidarity,
